Polish president met NATO Rapid Response Corps delegation

On 25th September the President Andrzej Duda and the Head of the National Security Bureau Paweł Soloch received the delegation of the Allied Rapid Reaction Corps (ARRC) and other Allied Commands, headed by Lieutenant General Timothy Radford, the Commandant of ARRC.

Minister P. Soloch presented the security environment of the Republic of Poland with particular emphasis on the defense needs of NATO's eastern flank.

The ARRC is one of the nine NATO high readiness force headquarters, based in Gloucester (the United Kingdom), prepared to undertake a wide spectrum of land operations. The United Kingdom is the framework nation of the Corps.
