Head of NSB meets with Professor Adam D. Rotfeld

On Tuesday 11th May Minister Stanislaw Koziej invited Prof. Adam Daniel Rotfeld to National Security Bureau.

Professor A. D. Rotfeld is a member of NATO's Wise Men Group called by the Secretary General Anders Fogh Rasmussen in order to prepare guidelines to the new strategic concept of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation.

Subject of discussion were perspectives of NATO evolution and possible implementation of Polish demands within that field, particularly the ones that concern enhancement of alliance defence guarantees resulting from Article 5 of NATO Treaty.

Prof. Adam D. Rotfeld presented demands that were entered in relation to the main strategic document of the Alliance by the individual member states and said that the schedule accepted by the Secretary General implies that the final form of the new strategic concept should be accepted by the member states by the end of this year, during Lisbon summit.

Other participants of the meeting include deputy head of NSB, Mr. Witold Waszczykowski and representatives of the Department of International Security and Department of Defence System.
