

Foreword

I hand to you another volume of the Quarterly of National Security Bureau. We focus our attention on the issues that have a key meaning for the security of the Republic of Poland. We adopt an interdisciplinary perspective on the security matters and present the articles concerning political, strategic, military and economic aspects. We wish that the Quarterly becomes also the discussion forum to debate current state security matters. That's why in the introductory article I would like to appeal for the new Strategic Concept of the Alliance and for the inauguration of the National Security Strategic Review.

I invite you to read the Quarterly.
