National Security Council meeting on September 9

President Bronislaw Komorowski has convened a meeting of the National Security Council (RBN) for September 9 to discuss the results of the NATO summit in Newport.

"The meeting, planned for Tuesday, will focus on Poland's security in the light of the results of the NATO summit," BBN's spokesman Marcin Skowron said.

The RBN is a constitutional advisory body appointed by the president. It comprises the speakers of both houses of parliament, the prime minister, deputy prime minister, ministers of foreign affairs, defence, internal affairs and administration as well as the leaders of the parties represented in the parliament.
