President: talks on NATO summit and Elblag division command

Implementation of Warsaw's NATO summit decisions and the establishment of the multinational division headquarters in Elblag were among the topics discussed with the defence minister, President Andrzej Duda said after the meeting.

President Duda met with Defence Minister Antoni Macierewicz and the ministry's top officials at the National Security Bureau (BBN) on Friday.

"We were discussing current affairs and the issues I considered to be most important in the present perspective", Duda said.

As he informed, the talks concerned cooperation between allies and the establishment of multinational division headquarters in northeastern Elblag.

"I asked about the stage of the preparation, and I was assured that all the works on developing and adapting the infrastructure as well as completing the officers' staff were in progress.

More to come...
